DRY Regiments That Are Sure to Go-Plan Enderstood to He to Held the Men at Their Armories Until They Are Ordered to the paid-Chaplains of the Guard-Recruits by the Handred-Eighth's Onth of Allegianes.

President McKinley's call for 100,000 volunare from the National Guard of the United States will scarcely have time to be heralded through the country to-day before Gov. Black, relying on the figures furnished him by Major-Gen. Charles F. Roe, will inform President that New York State is ready e furnish from 10,000 to 12,000 trained and thoroughly equipped men at once, From the reports made by the commanding offpers of the various militia organizations in the State, it is estimated that at least 10,000 men will volunteer the moment they are called upon. Gen. Roe said yesterday that the canvass of the National Guard had been made with the greatest eare, and that there was no question as to the accuracy of the figures now in the hands of Ser. Black and Adjt. Gen. Tillinghast.

The National Guard of this city is not only ready for the call, but anxious for it. In nearly every armory in the city last night 70 per cent. the men were on hand. They had come to fed out whether the call for volunteers had been made and were disappointed to learn that it had not. They gathered in the company ms and talked over the situation until mid-

All day the telephones in the armories had been kept busy by the men who couldn't wait to be summoned, but wanted to know whether they were wanted. The armories answered the inquiry: "Has the President called for volunteers I' until they were tired.

The question that is interesting the National Guardsmen now is which regiments will be called upon first. It is understood that the entire strength will not be wanted at once. Gov. Black has the power to make the selections, and Gen. Roe said yesterday that he would sadoubtedly pick out the organizations standing highest in point of efficiency and in willingto serve. It can safely be said that the Berenth Regiment, the Twenty-second Regiment, the First and Second batteries, Squadron A and the Signal Corps will be among those whose services will be wanted at once. Gov. Black will turn the call over, when it comes, to Aujt.-Gen. Tillinghast, who will in turn transmit it to Gen. Ros. Gen. Ros will ad it to the various commanding officers in the State at once, and immediately upon its reselpt the commanding officers will get their men Gen, Ros was asked yesterday how soon the Mational Guard of tals city could be moved.

"In twenty-four hours," he said. "I have seen it stated that the men from this city could not be moved under a week and that it would probably take two weeks to do it. This is not The men are all ready to move at once They have been getting ready for weeks, and if they were required to move in twenty-hours I think they could do The men are trained to look out for themselves. They have been told to have what luggage they'd need, if called out, ready. They have rements. I believe that in the matter of being ready the men of this city will make a record if they are called upon suddenly. The enly possible hitch that could come would be out the railreads. But the railreads are as ready for a sudden call for the transportation of troops as the troops are to be transported. You can rest assured that twenty-four hours can see he entire National Guard of New York city under arms and ready to move, if such haste

"I want to deny the statement made that the militia of the State will be mobilised at the itate camp at Peekskill. It is abourd to say such a thing, because anybody who knows sarthing about the State encampment knows that it will not accommodate a quarter of the troops. Van Cortlandt Park, which has also been spoken of as a mobilizing point, will not be seed either. It is unnecessary to say just what the plan is, but it is a perfectly simple and adequate plan to summon the men to their armories and keep them there until they are ordered to war."

Gen. Roe declined to talk any further of his plans, but it is understood that the men who rolunteer will remain in their armories until they are called out. Of course, many of them will have leave of absence, if they are not to be moved at once. Almost the entire National Guard can be accommodated in the armories if a sufficient number of cots can be procured on short notice. The armories have en turned into dormitories before now for the accommodation of visiting troops.

Chaplains of several of the regiments have made preparations to leave their home duty and accompany their comrades wherever the latter may be ordered. The official boards of shurches of which chapiains are pastors er testers have acted during the past few days upon the matter of prolonged absence. The Rev. Dr. C. De W. Bridgman, rector of Holy sovered from a severe illness, said yesterday he was quite willing to go, and that he believed the war is undertaken justly. The chaplains all held the relative rank of Captain, and are as Every company room in the Seventh Regiment Armory was crowded with men and officers up to a late hour last night. All that any body could say was that they were anxiously awaiting the call. Adjutant Weaver said:

"The Seventh is ready, as you can see. The men are full of enthusiasm, which is also per-fectly apparent to-night, and when the time to volunteer comes you can count on a remarkable response from this organization."

At the armory of the Eighth a stand of colors was presented last night to the regiment. The exercises were attended by an unusual ceremony, the taking by the entire regiment of the oath of allegiance to the colors. Ordinarily this proceeding is only for recruits. In view of the probable immediate calling out of the National Guard it was decided to allow the entire regiment to take the oath. Brig.-Gen. George Moore Smith of the Fifth Brigade made the presentation. After the preliminary review of the regiment Col. Chauncey faced the members

Officers and men of the Eighth Regiment: Officers and mea of the Eighth Regiment:
Forasmuch as you, each and every one, have taken a solemn eath to support the Constitution of the United States, and that of the State of New York; recognising thereby the sovereignty of the United States and of this State, it is meet that you should likewise take an eath in like manner to honor and defend the flag of our country, as being the visible sign of such severeignty. of such sovereignty;
Wherefore, do ye bind yourselves, by a solemn oath, to such honor and defence.

The members then doffed helmets while Col. Chauncey repeated the oath, sentence by sentence, all repeating it after him in a loud voice with their right hands raised. The oath was as followsz

I, a soldier of the State of New York, de solemnly swear that I will honor the flag of my country, and will cause it to be accored; and to the best of my ability will protect, defend, and maintain its honor and safety, defending it with my life if necessary, so long as life shall last; so help me God.

The Colonel then said in measured tones:

"Seeing then that you have thus taken a solemn oath, look ye to it that you fulfil the obligations thereof, at all times and in all places, lest you be forsworn; and do ve commence by rendering to the flag the highest honors that it is in the power of soldiers to render.

The Colonel then took his post in front of and facing the colors. The band played "The Star-Spangled Banner" and the spectators rose to their feet and cheered. Dancing followed, and the boys in blue were surrounded by crowds of pretty girls. Col. Chauncey announced that out of the 650 members of the regiment about 95 per cent, were present, and all would be ready at an instant's notice to answer the call of President McKinley for volunteers.

Major Andrews, commander of Squadren A. sceived an application yesterday from Policeman Henry J. Eberman of the Eldridge street tation, who offered his services in the field. Eberman served five years as a Sergeant in Troop I of the Seventh Cavalry, United States Army, and is known in the Police Department as an expert borseman. He was a member of the mounted police squad for some time. Major Andrews has the application under considera

At the armory of the First Battery, in West Forty-fourth street, last night, Capt. Wendel was besieged with applicants for enlistment. Over forty young men wanted to enlist for one year for the sole purpose of engaging in the present war. Capt. Wendel decided that he had no power to enlist a man for less than five years, and those who were not willing to enlist for that time were rejected. The Captain swore in six recruits. He stated that the battery had almost its full complement of trained men, but that all applications would be considered. Among the applicants rejected because they would not enlist German Army.

There was no abatement last night in the rush of recruits to join the Seventy-first Regiment. As the time for actual fighting approaches the number of young men anxious to shoulder a rifle for Uncle Sam increases. Capt. W. L. Haren, com-mander of Company B, the crack company of the regiment, said last night that reports about a riotous meeting of his company on Tuesday evening were greatly exaggerated. "We had a meeting to find out how many nen were willing to go to Cuba should the President call upon the National Guard," he stated, That was before the Hull bill was amended to permit Governors to appoint regimental and company officers. Out of an enrolled membership of 101 there were 87 present. A vote was taken and twenty members of the company said they were doubtful; that is, they wouldn't consent to respond to the President's call until they had learned more about their standing. The others consented to go under any circumstances. There was no disturbance. Capt, Hazen said that 70 per cent, of the company was now ready to go to the front immedi-

There was a battalion drill under Major Francis at the armory last night. The battalion spent most of the time in firing practice.

Capt. David Wilson's Second Battery of ar tillery is ready to start for the front on three hours' notice. Recruits have been pouring in, and the battery is almost on a war footing of Orders have been given for two more 3.2-inch breech-loading guns to bring the number up to six. The battery will go with nine caissons and two wagons, with six horses to each calsson and each gun. The horses have already been selected.

One member of the battery remains at the armory all night to notify the sergeants of each section should the order to assemble be given Lieut, William L. Flannigan had a score of recent recruits in the armory for drill last night. At the Sixty-ninth Regiment armory it was said last night that 200 recruits had been accepted this week, and that applicants were coming faster than they could be examined.

There was standing room only in most of the company rooms at the Ninth Regiment armory last night, and Captains and their First Sergeants were busy for three hours in enrolling new men. The recruits and the sightseers who had turned out to watch the drill of Companies E and H made such a crowd by 8:30 o'clock that the doors of the armory were closed, and a detail with muskets and fixed bayonets was put on duty at the Fourteenth street entrance. After that no man could get in unless he could convince the guard that he wanted to enlist. Col. Seward was in his quarters until late in the evening. He expressed complote satisfaction with the spirit prevailing in his regiment, and said so far as he could ascertain every officer of field, staff or line and practically all of the enlisted men were ready to go to the front. He also declared that he would be able to go out with a full regiment. The total strength of the Ninth was estimated to be 800

Capt. William F. Corey, Quartermaster on Col. Bartlett's staff. Twenty-second Regiment, said at the armory last night that his organization would not only go out with full ranks, but that in rounding out the companies only the very best men would be selected.

"We are not obliged," besaid, "to take every man who comes along in order to recruit up to the limit. We have got a good waiting list and this will be a regiment of picked men."

The greatest activity at the armory now is in the Quartermaster's Department, where the new men are receiving their uniforms and equipments as rapidly as possible.

Members of B Company temporarily cornered about all of the enthusiasm there was in the Twelfth Regiment Armory last night when Capt. C. A. Smylle called for a vote on the question of volunteering. It was immediately after the drill of the First Buttailon, and seventy-five men of B Company were present. With one exception they voted to go to the front. And then there was cheering that could be heard in every part of the big armory. The first sergeant jumped upon a pile of army blankets and called for the company well, which, translated, is as follows: "Hurrah! Hurrah! Hurrah! Hurrah! Tiger! One, two, three, four, five, six, gumer." The company adonted that cheer about eight years ago when the members visited Fort Wadsworth and distinguished themselves as marksmen with the big guns.

While the enthusiasm was still high, G. W. Davidson, letter carrier 1,773, station H, and a former member of B Company, walked into the room, and, after sainting Capt. Smylle, said: "The Government has given me a year's leave of absence without pay, and a waiting list that will bring it up to 1,000 by Monday. Lieut-Col. Seiter said last night that 90 per cent, would voluntees.

8,000 Fighting Men as Her First Installment-Veterans of the Twenty-third Have Offered Their Services to Gev. Black.

Brooklyn Guardsmen came in swarms to their armories last night, eager to hear the summons to active service. Crowds of visitors were also on hand. The gaps in some companies have been more than filled up during the past two weeks with new recruits and the return of ex-members to the ranks. The commanding officers of the various regiments all agreed that it would not require more than forty-eight hours to raise each of them to the 1.000 complement, and that Brooklyn could contribute as its first installment to the national army a fighting force of at least 5,000 men. Gen. James McLeer was at brigade headquarters in the Hall of Records all day in con-sultation with his staff and the regimental commanders and did not leave until he was officially notified that the call to the militia would not be Issued until at least to-day. "We will be ready to act," Gen. McLeer said, "the instant the word comes from Washington. The Second Brigade is amply prepared for every patriotic futy which may be required." W. B. Foran of 2783 Atlantic avenue told Gen. McLeer that he and fifty other expert wheelmen were ready to join the brigade as a national bicycle despatch company, and that they would serve without pay and provide their own uniforms if necessary. Gen. McLeer said that the offer would receive consideration.

Gen. McLeer was also informed of the rapid progress which Capt. Noah L. Cocheu, one of his comrades in the civil war, has made in the organization of a provisional regiment of cavalry. Capt. Cocheu has opened nine recruiting stations, and about 400 men have been sworn in A meeting is to be held to-night at the Clermont Avenue Rink, and among the speakers announced are Gens. Tracy, Molineaux, Avery

Christensen, and King. On the main drill floor of the Thirteenth Regiment Armory forty-eight men were receiving their first military instructions. Assistant Sur. geon Jarrett said that during the past week he had passed about fifty applicants. Capt. Harry A. Williams of Company G said that he had received nine applications for membership in his company, and he was of the opinion that the action taken by the company on Wednesday night was mainly responsible for the new recruits. The company decided not to volunteer its services to the Government but expressed a willingness to respond to any orders received for active duty.

"We are ready to respond to any calls that may come through the proper channels," said Capt. Williams, "and it will be found that the boys of Company G are as patriotic as any other organization in the National Guard. The only thing that the members of G want is that if they are ordered out their present officers be allowed to command them."

Assistant Surgeon Jarrett said that he was not in sympathy with the Hull bill, as it meant that he would lose his rank if the regiment was ordered out and became a volunteer regiment. The Thirteenth Regiment will have a review and dress parade at the Sumner avenue armory to-night in commemoration of the thirty-seventh anniversary of the departure of the regiment for the front in the civil war. Brig.-Gen.

McLeer will review the regiment and long-term

State medals and marksman badges will be presented. Between 3,000 and 4,000 persons visited the Twenty-third Regiment Armory and perhaps wo-thirds of the members assembled. Col. A. C. Smith and nearly all the other officers were kept busy till a late hour attending to applicants for enlistment. The assistant surgeon, Dr. Charles D. Napier, passed favorably upon forty-five recruits. Capt. George F. Hamlin stated that Company I had taken in thirty-four recruits in four days, making the membership 107.

Company G, Capt. Charles R. Silkman, and Company H. Capt. Frederick C. Dennington. were on the drill floor during the guard mount under the eye of Major W. A. Stokes. The Cadet Corps went through their closing exercises. Lieut. W. J. Travis was in command.

There was an important meeting of the Excoutive Committee of the Twenty-third Regiment Veteran Association. At the conclusion of the meeting a hurry call was issued for a gathering of all the veterans and ex-members of the regiment to assemble at the armory tonight at 8 o'clock for the purpose of perfecting an organization. The Executive Committee consists of Gen. A. C. Barnes and an ex-Captain of each of the ten companies. The committee has decided to announce to Gov. Black and to the Secretary of War that the Veteran Association of the Twenty-third Regiment stands ready to do whatever may be required of its members. The association contains almost 1,000 able-hodied and well-drilled men, who are willing, they say, to do duty either at home or along the water front, or wherever the Governor or President may need them most. The association also intends to do its best to nduce the younger veteran members to enter the active regiment. It is expected that no less than 800 veterans and ex-members will enroll and volunteer to-night.

Gen. A. C. Barnes, the President of the association, appointed the following Executive Committee, who are to act as company commanders: Gen. A. C. Barnes, Colonel; Lieut. T. W. Sill-cocks, Adjutant; Captains-D. W. Van Ingen, Company A; W. L. Candee, Company B; T. J. Stevens, Company C; R. E. Whitney, Company D; A. Guthrie, Company E; G. H. Pettit, Company F; H. L. Crane, Company G; A. C. Saunders, Company H; W. J. Battey, pany I, and D. R. Aldridge, Company K. The General Committee consists of forty members, including ex-Mayor F. W. Wurster, Gen. E. L. Molineaux, Col. J. N. Partridge, Col. J. G. Story, Cot. A. S. Bagon, Col. William Everdell, Col. Ezra De Forest, Col. J. B. Frothingham, Major Fred L. Holmes, Capt. Charles E. Satterlee and Major Charles E. Waters. At the headquarters of the Third Gatling Battery it was stated that all the men, with the exception of those on the sick list, had agreed to volunteer. The battery at present contains eighty-nine men, but at least 200 applications for membership have been received. At 9 o'clock the recruits were put through the medical examination, but only twelve were accepted. Capt. Ras quin said he could start, within an hour's no-

Applicants for places in Troop C called at the armory in large numbers. The majority of the men were between the ages of 25 and 30. Capt. the new military code had been reached, but that as soon as permission could be obtained the applicants would be callsted.

MICHIGAN TROOPS ALERT.

Into Camp on Tucotay. LANSING, Mich., April 22.-Gov. Pingree has ordered the Michigan National Guard into camp at Island Lake, all the companies to move in heavy marching order on Tuesday morning The camp equipage will be shipped from here to-morrow morning, when a detail of thirty men will go to Island Lake to arrange the camp. To-night orders for clothing, meat pans and other metals necessary to fully equip every man have been given for immediate shipment,

The troops will be disciplined at camp until called for by the President. It is expected to have 3,500 enlisted men in camp Tuesday night. each company being limited to eighty-three men. At the recent special session the Governo was authorized to increase the number to 150 in case of war, and already a number of the companies have applicants sufficient to recruit to the limit as soon as authorized.

in great numbers. DETROIT, Mich., April 22 .- Adjt.-Gen. Irish to-day opened a State recruiting and military office in Detroit. The Fourth Regiment, recently divided into independent battalions by an unsat isfactory election of officers, has combined in asking Gov. Pingree to appoint Capt. Gardiner, U. S. A., Colonel and to send it to the front at the first call. To this the Governor agrees,

An artillery regiment is being organized mong the Michigan militia. Michigan is ready to go to the front as a unit by marching across the State to the rendezvous. The Governor de sires that Michigan's boys shall not go into the field green. On the march and at camp the food to be served will gradually be changed to that of the soldier in service. At camp every phase of actual warfare will be practiced until the final call. None but sound men and good soldiers will go to the front.

Reports from nearly every city tell of demonstrations, organizations of independent com-panies, volunteer regiments and thousands of applications at the recruiting stations. Two hundred Michigan travelling men to-day forwarded applications to the Secretary of War, offering their services. A company composed of society young men is already drilling in artillery tactics. The naval reserves are enlisted to a full quota, and many cadet companies are holding daily drills.

the National Guard, and it is ready to respond as an organization to the call. A thousand applications for enlistment have been made at the army recruiting station in this city. The independent recruiting offices engaged in raising State volunteer organizations are busy enrolling big batches of names. At the National Guard armories the brigade quartermasters and surgeons have received orders to purchase stores and supplies needed for a campaign and have the bills sent to the Adjutant-General's office.

TWO JERSEY REGIMENTS TO GO. The Other Four Will Be Kept Behind fo

TRENTON, N. J., April 22,-At a conference to day between the Governor, the State Military Board, and the Colonels of the six regiments of the National Guard it was decided that when the President's call for volunteers is made, the Governor will designate two regiments for service, retaining the other four regiments ntact for service within the State, in case they are needed. To fill any vacancies in the two regiments selected, men will be recruited from outside of the Guard.

It was decided that one regiment should elected from each of the two brigades, and the First Regiment of Newark will be one of the wo. Its Colonel, Edward A. Campbell, is the anking Colonel in the National Guard, and the egiment is the largest. The regiment to be elected from the Second Brigade will be either the Sixth of Camden or the Third of Elizabeth The probabilities are that it will be the latter, as it was the first to offer its services, and it ocation so near the Newark regiment will make ts transportation easier.

> Each of the Five Brigades of the National Guard to Furnish a Regiment of 1,000 Men, a fixth Regiment to be Recruited from the Three New York City Brigades-Regimental and Company Officers to be Elect ed by the Officers of the Respective Brigades

ALBANY, April 22 .- With the consent of Gov Black, Adjt.-Gen. Tillinghast late this afternoon made the following statement, explaining the plan that has been arranged to secure volunteers as soon as the President's call for troops is "So many requests were made that organize tions as a whole, and under their own officers, may have an opportunity to volunteer that an order was issued asking commanding officers of organizations to inform the Governor what percentage of their men would volunteer. The response was prompt and satisfactory. Many organizations offered 100 per cent., none less than 70 per cent. It has been decided that when the call from the Federal Government is made for volunteers the work of recruiting them and preparing them to be mustered into the United States service will be placed in the hands of the brigade commanders. and the work will be done by the forces that this State has been training for so many years. namely, the National Guard. Field and staff officers will be appointed by the Governor. Company officers will be selected by ballot by all the commissioned officers of the brigade Their names will be presented to the Governor, and he will commission them. Non-commissioned officers of the staff and of companies will be warranted by the regimental commanders This plan places the responsibility for having troops properly prepared in the hands of men who by right and service have earned the privilege. The details for carrying into effect the above are ready for promulgation as soon as the call comes. It will be understood that the enlisted men and officers will come, as far as posalble, from the officers and men of the National Guard. Any balance in the aggregate called for can be filled from men in civil life."

It will be seen by the plan above outlined that every member of the National Guard desiring to answer the call of the President must volunteer individually. It is not expected that the President's call for troops will reach the Adjutant-General's office by mail before Sunday. New York State's quota of the 100,000 men to be called for by the President will be about 8,000. This will mean that this State will be asked to furnish six regiments of a thousand men each, which, with the commissioned officers and non-commissioned staff officers, will make a total of 7,500 men. The War Department will probably also ask this but as the mobilization of the State to furnish a battalion of cavairy and one quota.

As the call will be for but 8,000 men, it is thought that to let eight of the regiments re-cruit up to the army strength and go to the front under their present officers would create much feeling among the other Guard organizations, which would have to remain at home unless another call for troops should be made by the President.

The six regiments to be furnished from this State will be largely composed of well-instructed soldiers and will be sofficered with experienced men. It is proposed by Gov. Black to place the recruiting work in charge of the five brigade ommanders of the National Guard. They are: First Brigade, Brig.-Gen. McCoskry Butt of New York city; Second, Brig. Gen. James McLeer of Brooklyn; Third, Brig. Gen. Robert Shaw Oliver of Albany; Fourth, Brig. Gen. Peter C. Dovle of Buffalo: Fifth, Brig.-Gen, George Moore Smith of New York city. The Captain of each company will be a recruiting officer under the supervision of the regimental commander, and the armories will be utilized for recruiting stations. This plan will give every National Guardsman not married, and who has no business relations which would prevent his volunteering if he desired, the first opportunity to enlist,

Each of the five brigades will be asked to furnish a regiment, and the three battalions of the Sixth Regiment will be furnished, one each, by the First, Second, and Fifth brigades in New York city. Each regiment will bear the number of its brigade, and will not only represent the State at the front, but the brigade as well. After a regiment leaves for the front if its membership is diminished by disability or death, it will be recruited to its full strength from the brigade it represents. The company officers of each regiment, which include a Captain and First and Second Lieutenant, will be elected by all the officers of the brigade, which will war rant the selection of good and competent men These officers will be required to pass an ex amination, and will then be commissioned by the Governor. The field and staff officers of each regimen mbracing a Colonel, Lieutenant-Colonel, three Majors, an Adjutant, a surgeon and assistant surgeon, a chaplain, and probably a commissary of subsistence, will be selected by the Governo who undoubtedly will give the preference to officers of the National Guard and officers o large experience. This method will, it is ex pected, secure the best results.

If the President's call for troops reaches th Governor on Sunday nothing will be done to carry it into effect before Monday, and it is ex pected that the six regiments will be fully enlisted by Monday night, or withi twenty-four hours after Adjt.-Gen. Tilling hast calls upon the brigade commander to raise the regiments. As soon as a regi ment is recruited and officered it will be sent to a camp of instruction for drill and equip ment. Of the four regiments to be raised in New York city three will be sent to the State camp at Peckskill, which is not large enough to ecommodate more than 3,000 men, and Var Cortlandt Park, in New York city, will probably be utilized as a camp of instruction for the other regiment. The regiment raised by the Third Brigade no doubt will be sent to a temporary camp of instruction near Albany, and the one rganized in the Fourth Brigade to a temporary camp of instruction near Buffalo.

Meanwhile, until sent to the camps of instrution, the companies of a regiment will be drilled daily at their respective armories. It is likely the regiments will not be ordered to Chickamau ga by the Federal authorities until two weeks after they have been organized.

The recent expression on the part of the Na

donal Guardsmen, having shown that 75 per cent, and more were ready to volunteer, makes it certain that 75 per cent, of the membership of each of the six regiments to be raised will consist of well-instructed men, and that they will be an organization of which the State may justly be proud. Of the 14,000 members of the Guard it is expected that about 6,000 wil join these volunteer regiments. The plan of having only those members of the Guard join the United States Army for service any where in this country or in Spain or Cuba will leave about 8,000 members of the guard at nome, who can be called upon by the President fo defence duty at any noint they may be required along the Atlantic coast without the necessity of having them volunteer their services. Major Gen. Roe and the five brigade commanders wil remain at home unless the President should call upon Gov. Black to furnish officers of their respective ranks.

WISCONSIN ALL READY.

Captains of All the Militia Companies Sa Their Men Are Ready. Madison, Wis., April 22.-Wisconsin will send a full quota of trained soldiers in response to the President's call for volunteers. The National Guard has already enlisted for the war, save for the last formalities. In response to the call sent out last evening by Adjt.-Gen. Bordman, the Captain of every militia company in the State, including Battery A, light artillery, and Troop A, cavalry, both of Milwaukee, has telegraphed that his entire company is ready to go to the front. The strength of the militia in the State is about 2,600, which is almost the exact number Wisconsia will be called upon to furnish under the President's call, There are in addition several hundred applications for service on file with the Governor, many

The State Militia Will Be Ready to Auswer Call To-Day. BURLINGTON, Vt., April 22. - Major S. P.

Jocelyn, U. S. A., on duty with the National Guard of Vermont, told a SUN reporter to-night: "Information at hand this evening is to the effect that the whole strength of the Vermont National Guard will report for duty under the President's call, probably to be issued to morrow. Efficient measures are being taken to promptly furnish troops from Vermont the moment a call is made for them. The State has in its National Guard a full regiment of infantry, which can be recruited to the scrength of 1,200 men, and a six-gun field battery of 150 men, the latter being equipped with 3.2-inch rifles. Board of Estimate Votes to Give Them Leave The following resolution was unanimously adopted at yesterday's meeting of the Board of Estimate: " Resolved. That in the event of the President of the United States calling for volunteers, or for the militia of the State, for the service of the United States, the employees of the city who may enter the service of the United States as such volunteers or militia shall receive their salaries under leave of absence during their continuance in such service." There are about 150 employees in the various city departments who have already signified their intention of enlisting, if the President calls for volunteers. Most of them are National

WAR ACTIVITY IN BOSTON. The Watertown Arsenal Working with All

Boston, April 22 .- At the navy yard this orning Commander Howison received orders to use all possible despatch in completing the work on hand. The Watertown Arsenal is working under rush orders and is shipping munitions of war in great quantities every day, the destination, however, being kept from the press. Work on the small 6.6 mortar guns is being especially rushed. Sixteen tons of fixed ammunition were taken from the magazine in Chelsea this afternoon and carried to Mystis wharf, Charlestown, where it is to be loaded on freight cars and sent away by the Boston and Maine Railroad. Its destination is not known, The Halpine torpedo was shipped yesterday from the navy yard, its destination a secret, Notwithstanding the Governor's official statement that our coast defence is in good shape. the north shore residents still feel nervous. It is suggested that there are at Salem in the huge coal pockets thousands of tons of coal which would make the Spanish eyes glisten, Newburyport also has extensive coal pockets, They are, however, already thought of, and in the event of the calling out of the militia would be first looked after. The ports are not easy to enter cannot be entered, in fact, by other than light draught vessels, and an attempted approach to the shore by boat could be prevented by the use of few rapid-fire 4-inch guns, which could be mounted in a hurry should occasion

MINES FOR THE SOUND. Bynamite and Torpedoes Sent to Willets Point -Two Men Murt.

WHITESTONE, I. I., April 22,-Twenty-five thousand pounds of dynamite and 101 torpedoes were moved from the magazine at Fort Schuyer to Willets Point yesterday. They are to be used for the defence of the Sound entrance to this harbor. Twenty army engineers will start this morning to lay at least twenty-five more groups of controlled mines. There are three mines in each group, and firing connections are to be made not only with Fort Schuyler and Willets Point, but also with Governor's Island. All the mines to be planted will be of the controlled kind, and will not interfere with navigation. Work on the pontoon trains is being pushed. The completed train will consist, it is expected,

The completed train will consist, it is expected, of 120 heavily loaded wagons.

Two soldiers were injured yesterday by a wagon which fell on them as it was being hoisted up by a block and tackle. They were sent to the post hospital.
